This privacy policy describes what information (your ‘personal data’) we collect about you through the use of our website <https://www.embaptists.org.uk>, the purposes for which we collect it and how we will handle and use it.

For the purposes of data protection law, we are considered as the ‘controller’ of the personal data we collect and hold about you and we are therefore responsible for it.

Our Data Protection Officer, Becky Nicholls, is responsible for matters relating to the protection of personal data and can be contacted at dpo@embaptists.org.uk

We are registered with the Information Commissioner’s Office (“ICO”) with registration number Z2392194

1. Information about you

By using our website we may collect the following information about you in the following ways:

1.1 Information which you give us

We collect information about you when you fill in forms on our website and when you communicate with us. This includes (but is not limited to) the information you provide us with when you make EMBA event bookings. This can include your full name, address, email address, phone number.

1.2 Information we collect about you

By visiting and interacting with our site we also collect certain information about you automatically. This includes information about the browser you use, the type of computer, your means of connection to our site, the operating system and the Internet service providers utilized and other similar information., as well as information about your visit including date and time of your visit, clickstream to, through and from our website, how much time you spend on each webpage, how you interact with the website, email addresses and telephone numbers which you use to contact us.

2. Why we collect this information

In this section we list the different purposes for which we collect and use your personal information, as well as the legal grounds under the Data Protection Act 1998 and (from 25 May 2018) the General Data Protection Regulation on which we rely to justify such data processing.

Purpose	Legal grounds
Maintaining our network	The information is necessary for our legitimate interest to maintain the network
Keeping you updated	We only keep you updated on the basis of your consent for us to do so
Operating, maintaining and improving our website	The information is necessary for our legitimate interest to ensure the smooth functioning of our website and its continuous improvement
Keeping our website secure	The information is necessary for our legitimate interest to protect our website's integrity and to protect user data

3. Disclosure of your information

At times we may share your information with others. The following is a list of who we will or might share our information with:

- Our employees, contractors and volunteers on a need-to-know basis;
- Website developers and administrators. Our current website is managed by the EMBA Comms Lead
- Analysts and consultants who might help us improve and optimise our website;
- Law enforcement authorities;
- Organisations which we may have a legal obligation to disclose information to

4. Where we keep your personal data

All your personal information covered by this policy will be stored in the UK. We will not transfer your information outside the European Economic Area unless we are permitted to do so by law and we will inform you about such transfer before it is done.

5. Retention of data

We will keep the personal information covered by this policy for the periods of time specified in our Data Retention Schedule which is available on our website: <https://embaptists.org.uk/about-us/structure-governance/emba-policies/> and at the end of the applicable retention periods we will safely and securely delete it.

6. Your rights in relation to your data

You have a number of rights under data protection law. These include:

- The right to access your personal data and to obtain certain information about it;
- The right to rectify the data if it is inaccurate;
- In some circumstances, such as when the data is no longer required or if the use of the data has no legal justification, the right to have that data erased;
- In limited circumstances, the right to object to our handling of the data;
- In limited circumstances, the right to restrict the handling of your data;
- The right to obtain a copy of your data in a commonly used electronic form if the data is processed by automated means and the processing is based on your consent or contractual necessity.

More details about how these rights apply can be found in our Data Protection Policy which is available on our website: <https://embaptists.org.uk/about-us/structure-governance/emba-policies/>

You also have the right to withdraw your consent at any time when we rely on consent as a legal ground to justify our handling of your personal data. This would not affect the lawfulness of anything done before consent is withdrawn but it would stop us from continuing to use the relevant information and may therefore prevent us from providing you with a satisfactory service.

You can exercise your rights or obtain more information about them by contacting our Data Protection Officer at dpo@embaptists.org.uk

7. Complaints to the Information Commissioner

You have a right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Officer (ICO) about the way in which we collect and handle your personal data. Complaints to the ICO can be made on the ICO's website <https://ico.org.uk/>.

8. Third Party websites

Our website may refer or contain links to other websites. Please note that this privacy policy does not apply to information collected through these websites. These third party websites should have their own privacy policies which describe how they might collect your data and use it.

We are not responsible for these third party websites or the information which they might collect and, therefore, you are encouraged to view their policies before browsing through third party websites or providing them with information.

9. Cookies

Like most other websites, our website uses cookies.

Cookies are small files which websites store on your computer and which contain various types of information about your visit to a website. They are not viruses or malicious software but they are generally aimed at providing you with a good experience when browsing a site by, for example, remembering your preferences so that you do not need to reset them every time you visit the website.

Although cookies do not normally contain information about you personally they can record information about how you browse the internet. They can therefore be used by websites to advertise goods and services which, based on your browsing history, are similar to goods and services which you have previously searched online. This is why some users reject or delete cookies.

Cookies normally expire after a length of time which can vary from a few minutes to more than a year. Some cookies are 'session cookies' which are deleted when you close your internet browser or after a period of inactivity. Others are 'persistent cookies' which remain on your computer until their expiration date.
